Weather & Comments:

Rio 100: mod seas. Cloud 8/8, twd 035 mag tws 16 knots, baro pressure 1020

All well on board. Looking forward to port Gybe where we have a rudder in the water when heeling!

- - - - -

Tropic Thunder: Sea and Sky Conditions: 3-5 ft overcast

TWD 43 TWS 18 Barometric 1020

WHERE IS THE SUN!!! Maybe we will see it for more than 15 minutes today. Since we lost our Sym we have been protecting our A2 by limiting the conditions where it is flown. On Genoa most of the night. A2 re launched at 0805.

Halfway Party to be held today! All are invited, if not in person, in spirit!

- - - - -

Triumph: ea 2-3' confused, sky overcast, wind dir 045 (mag), velocity 21-knts, and baro press 1020MB

Dark night, one collision with something plastic, had to slow to get it off the rudder. Survived attack of the flying fish, owner was bitten in the ankle, who promptly kicked it into the wheel well. GOAL!

- - - - -

Medicine Man: Very Grey Morning

Wind is 18 to 22 knots from 35 - 50 degrees

Seas are very confused 4 to 6' 1021 mb

Co-Skipper Lisa Meier drove a 22 knot sustained speed burst Trimmers getting a free workout. 1/2 Way there and all is well

- - - - -

Blue Flash: Cloudy skies with 1-3ft swell, tws 14knts, twd 040, Press 1018.5.

The crew of blueflash have made some adjustments to their steering system in the last 24 hours but it continues to hold and so progress is being made with our smallest kite toward Hawaii.

- - - - -

Cabernet Sky: 5-7' seas overcast sky, w some clearing. Wind NNE 17kts, Press 1021mb All on board doing well. Blew out the A2 yesterday mid afternoon, sailing with main and jib. Have repaired Code Zero in reserve if winds allow.

Water maker still working off and on. All aboard saddened by the loss of the A2, none more so than the skipper. Comforting dinner of pork in chili verde sauce, rice and beans brought everyone around to a more festive mood. We sail on.

- - - - -

Dark Star:
CONDITIONS

- Sea: SWELL 6-10', 4-6' WIND WAVES
- Sky: OVERCAST, SQUALLY
- Wind Oscillating 045M 20KTS
- Pressure 103.3kPa/1033mB

COMMENTS: A record run for us last 24 hrs. Great day of surfing. Seemed like we spent more time at 13 kts than at 8, with top speed 22 kts falling off a wave last night in an explosion of spray. That's it. We have no dry gear left. Just dropped the chute for some maintenance and a back down to clear the rudder but are back at it after 15 mins under main.

Other cool experiences: At the exact moment our GPS told us we'd sailed halfway yesterday, a pod of porpoises appeared and surfed with us for half an hour. Last night we sailed through a school of flying fish that all started to scatter in random directions as we approached. Looked like they'd been dipped in phosphorescence and fired out of a gun into the night.

Saw our first squall last night so we know that we must be getting closer to Hawaii. Really appreciating the big new elliptical rudder and running backs that we installed over the winter!
